AUTO PAINT SHOP

The great number of automobiles that have recently gone out of town to be painted, attracted the attention of D. A. Harmon, of Long Beach, and he immediately investigated the field with the result that he has rented a building at 1015 Border avenue, and has opened his shop. Already the place has developed a busy atmosphere and Mr. Harmon is pleased with the support he is receiving from local people. His advertisement in this paper announces that he caters to those desiring high class workmanship.

OIL BOOSTER HERE

Sid Glasgow, of Long Beach, was in Torrance Friday last on business in connection with some oil leases which he owns near the new Torrance gusher. Mr. Glasgow is very enthusiastic over the oil prospects in this vicinity and expected to inspect the Koystone district with a view to investing before returning to Long Beach.

Union Tool Team
Takes Easy Game

LAST Saturday's game was a walk away for the Union Tool team.
We have forgotten the score which was entirely a shut-out.
The American

Door outfit was outclassed in every way; they were overwhelmed from start to finish. If we remember correctly none of their men got further than second base.

The Industrial League seems to be a bit underorganized. By that we mean the teams are not evenly matched, and this condition is so pronounced that we believe the Union Tool team is so much better than the other teams in the League that they are not in the same class. We are apprehensive of the outcome should the U. T. team be matched against a regular outfit that played the same brand of ball. Of course we are loyal enough to root for our own team but we are sure we would see some real baseball and not that cat and mouse attitude displayed at almost every game by our boys, with the opposing team playing the mouse part.

Our boys are supremely confident—overconfident, in fact, and we would hate to see them settle down and play ball against the teams that have been pitted against them so far this season. The score would undoubtedly be scandalous. Next season we hope to see an organization that will mean baseball every minute until the last man is out, because we sure think that afternoon wasted when called upon to watch a game such as last Saturday's or the one the week before.

"The Rosary," Classic of Song and Stage, is Filmed on Lavish Scale

The story of the "Rosary," which has long been one of the great classics of literature, song and stage, is a story of sacrifice. Selig-Rork's latest seven reel motion picture has been inspired by the thought that underlies every great religion, every loft, every unselfish order—the longing for the day of the true brotherhood of man.

"The Rosary," which will be the screen attraction released by First National at the Torrance Theatre on June 25 and 26, is an original story by Bernard McConville, inspired by the theme of Edward E. Rose's famous stage play. Several years ago Colonel Selig produced "The Rosary." It proved a great picture, but with the advance in motion picture art he has long desired to give this wonderful old story, the broad picturization it deserved. The screen author has endeavored to bring the best of the inspired thought of both play and song into this bigger and better film version.

"The history of the Christian Rosary begins with the sacrifice of Christ," says Mr. McConville, "when certain souls prayed that the memory of His sufferings might be deathless.

"In the fourth century, Peter the Hermit used pebbles to help concentrate his thoughts, casting aside each pebble one by one until his prayers were said.

"From this crude pebble rosary came that which is used today; the string of beads, ending with the cross —the symbol of sacrifice.

"Whether unconscious of it or not, every human soul makes for himself a rosary—the symbol of his worship: Lust, power, greed, self-love, or love for his fellow man.

"Creeds in the past have bred discord; but humanity is slowly learning that we are all members of one great fellowship, working and journeying together, helping or hindering the world by the rosary each carries in his mind.

"For thoughts are things—and as a man thinketh in his heart, so is he."

Bernard McConville has been an outstanding figure of the new school of screen authors this year. To his credit besides "The Rosary" are such famous successes as "The Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court," Mary Pickford's "Little Lord Fauntleroy" and "The Hoodlum," three Charles Ray productions, Will Rogers' best picture, "Doubling for Rommeo," and the last William Fox special, "The Count of Monte Cristo."

CONGRATULATES E. J. LEWIS

"Hearty congratulations on your successful underwriting of Palos Verdes project. In our judgment it marks an epoch in city planning and building, and when completed will be a tremendous step forward in the development of Southern California. Count on us for co-operation in every way we can."
